

February 2011

COLSA Awarded Two MSIC Contracts

COLSA Corporation announced today that it has been awarded two contracts for the Defense Intelligence Agency's (DIA) Missile and Space Intelligence Center (MSIC). The first award was a fixed-firm price contract for operations and maintenance (O&M) of MSIC's High Performance Computing System (HPCS) with the second award being a cost plus fixed fee contract for the development and sustainment (D&S) of MSIC Analytical Systems. The values of the contracts are $9M and $25M, respectively.

"MSIC has been a priority for COLSA since we were originally awarded the contract," said COLSA's founder, Frank J. Collazo. "This award is testament to the relationship COLSA has developed with and the excellent service that COLSA has provided to MSIC over the course of the previous contract. COLSA is constantly evaluating the service we provide so that we can meet current and future challenges, and we look forward to continuing our support of the MSIC mission."